Consent for Childhood Immunisation

Dear Parents

Before any immunisation can be given to your child we have to obtain your formal consent. This means that we will explain what the immunisation is for, explain all the side effects and what actions we suggest you take should your child have any of the side effects, and then ask your permission to give the immunisation.

The only people that can give consent for your child to have an immunisation are the Mother and the Father (but only if his name appears on the birth certificate), or a guardian that has parental responsibility. Obviously it would not be practical for us to ask to see a copy of your child's birth certificate if Dad brings him/her for an immunisations we have devised the proforma below. Please keep this with your red book and if anyone but Mum brings your baby for immunisation please complete the form below. It can also be used if grandparents or Nannies bring your child.

Thank you.
